“Blessed are those who find wisdom, the person who gains understanding, for wisdom is more profitable than silver and yields better returns than gold.” Proverbs 3: 13-14.

Dear friends of Bridge of Hope Girls School-Liberia:

Since its founding in 2008, BOH has made it a priority to hire and retain qualified and committed teaching staff. This allows the school to function smoothly from year to year without the need to find and train new teachers. This philosophy also fosters a stable educational environment in which the students interact with staff they know and trust.

One of our longest serving teachers is Sixtus Yahn, the sponsor of the 22 students in the 4th grade. Hired in 2010, he holds a degree in Criminal Justice from AME Zion University, and has a C-Certificate in education. Married to a church pastor, he currently teaches writing, phonics and English. He also leads the training for spelling bee competitions and serves as the chair for the BOH Gala Day celebrations. Because of his positive attitude and commitment (he often stays after school to help students who cannot complete assignments due to a lack of electricity at home) he was chosen to lead the BOH choir during family day chapel services. Sponsor Yahn sees 4th grade as a pivotal time in the student's education, for it here that they enter the upper elementary division at the school and experience a self-contained classroom in which students encounter different teachers for various subjects. Many come from other schools with poor reading and writing skills, making their education a challenge.

Sponsor – Grade 4*

Your support of teachers like Sixtus Yahn make the Christian education of underprivileged girls at BOH possible! THANK YOU! Your prayers and financial support are critical to our mission in a context of severe poverty. $115 supports a teacher for a month, and $1380 pays their salary for an entire year! Please share the story of BOH with friends and family. Blessings!
